PATHFINDER MAGAZINE

Each Labor Day, it is our privilege to welcome golfers, tennis players, sponsors, and friends to the Otesaga Hotel Seniors Open & Pro-Am and the Chobani Tennis Classic, which support scholarships at Pathfinder Village in Edmeston, New York, a remarkable open-access residential community for people who have Down syndrome and other developmental disabilities. The Village, founded in 1980, is a vibrant place where people from all walks of life learn, work and play, creating lives of meaning and independence.

Our key sponsors have been steadfast partners and have insured the success of these events. We are honored to have the tremendous support of our Seniors Open Title Sponsor, The Otesaga Hotel, and our Presenting Sponsor, NBT Bank. Chobani, which has won world-wide acclaim and revitalized New York’s dairy industry, is Title Sponsor for our Tennis Classic. We also extend our deep gratitude to our other major tournament sponsors: Corporate Sponsor Coca-Cola Refreshments, Platinum Sponsors NYCM Insurance and the Nicolais Family, and Manning & Napier, Trophy Sponsors for the tennis tourney.

We would be remiss if we did not extend our gratitude to all tournament sponsors, especially those who have been with us from the beginning. Together, with their steady support, the tournaments have helped raise over $2.6 million for Pathfinder, and have created a tradition that is unmatched anywhere.

On behalf of the Tournament Committees and everyone at Pathfinder Village, we thank you for your support.

Sincerely,

Daryl R. Forsythe

Correction: We apologize that donations given by James Murnighan in memory of Richard Murnighan, Douglas Raasch, and Sharon Raczynski were omitted from Pathfinder Village's Annual Report for 2014.
Ryne Sandberg had a laser focus during his 16 seasons as a Chicago Cub – to respect baseball and "play the game as it ought to be played." His doggedness, coupled with his diverse talents at the plate and in the infield, earned him the nickname "Ryno" and eventually led to his election to the National Baseball Hall of Fame in 2005.

Ten years after his induction, Sandberg returns to Cooperstown on September 8 as the celebrity host for the Pro-Am round of the 33rd annual Otesaga Hotel Seniors Open. This event at the Leatherstocking Golf Course raises over $50,000 annually to benefit the Pathfinder Village Foundation’s Scholarship Fund, and is held concurrently with the Chobani Tennis Classic, now in its sixth year. These events have raised over $2.6 million to benefit residents at Pathfinder Village, Edmeston, a remarkable open-access community for people living with Down syndrome and other developmental disabilities.

With 16-year Presenting Sponsor NBT Bank and Corporate Sponsor Coca-Cola Refreshments, the Pro-Am also benefits the Education Programs for school children at the Hall of Fame.

As Pro-Am host, Ryno follows in the footsteps of fellow Hall members Bobby Cox, Rollie Fingers and Johnny Bench. Sandberg will visit the Pathfinder community on Labor Day to learn about its job training, education, and social programs, and to tour its $1.2 million Dr. William F. Streck Community Health Center, which will open this fall. A highlight of the visit will be a Q&A session at Tuesday’s Pro-Am Awards Banquet, moderated by Brad Horn, the Hall’s Vice President of Communications and Education.

Taken in the amateur draft by Philadelphia in 1978, Sandberg played 13 games for the Phillies and was then traded to the Cubs. By 1984, he was starting for the Cubs on second, and finished the year with .314 with 200 hits, 114 runs, 36 doubles, 19 triples, 19 homers, and 84 RBIs. He led the team to its first post-season since WWII and was named MVP. He made the All-Star team, the first of 10 appearances, and won his second of nine Gold Glove Awards. He had another banner year in 1990, with 25 steals, 100 RBIs, and 40 home runs.

Sandberg retired in 1997, after 2,151 games with the Cubs. He had 2,386 hits, the highest fielding percentage at second (.989), and a record 123 consecutive errorless games by a second baseman. Since that time he has held a number of managerial positions in the minor leagues and with the Phillies, and he and his wife Margaret maintain a charitable interest in assisting children who have serious illnesses. The Sandbergs have five children and five grandchildren.

TIMELESS HOSPITALITY

Even before any guests meet Sandberg or take part in the challenges and fun at this year’s tournaments, they will undoubtedly be captivated by the charms of the Pro-Am’s Title Sponsor, The Otesaga Resort Hotel. Recent improvements and additions include renovated guestrooms, a new business center, the lakeside Fire Bar, and the new Hawkeye Spa, which offers a menu of relaxing massages and facials. The Otesaga also has enhanced its activities by offering a new Flash Golf special, as well as bikes, row boats, and paddleboard rentals to guests, so they may appreciate the breathtaking beauty of Lake Otsego, history’s "Glimmerglass."

TOURNAMENT TIME

The Pro-Am is a unique tournament in many ways, given the challenges of the lakeside course, the two-out-of-five best ball format, and the pairing of amateur teams with some of the country’s best senior golf professionals. This year’s event is expected to field 25 teams, and for the first time ever, the Pro-Am will include a foursome representing the Pathfinder community.

Also planned for September 8 is the sixth annual Chobani Tennis Classic, which is planned by a volunteer committee headed by Bob and Pat Hanft of Cooperstown. The double-flight round robin doubles tournament offers up to 32 participants challenging play and camaraderie at the scenic Cooperstown Country Club.

2014 Seniors Open Champ John Elliot is presented the purse by Otesaga General Manager Jim Miles, Tournament Co-chair Daryl Forsythe, Pathfinder Resident Andrew Hyman, and LGC Host Pro Dan Spooner
The Tennis Classic has grown steadily, and is backed by Title Sponsor Chobani, and Trophy Sponsor Manning & Napier of Rochester. In 2015, the Tennis Committee is exploring a Chobani Junior Classic for school-aged players, which will also benefit Pathfinder’s Scholarship Fund.

THE SENIORS OPEN

Following Tuesday’s benefit events, the Leatherstocking Golf Course will host the Otesaga Hotel Seniors Open on September 9-11, a three-day contest that attracts senior golf pros from throughout the country. Over 80 club and teaching pros are expected to compete. A new website has been launched to draw new participants and share starting tee assignments and daily results at [www.otesaga seniorsopen.com](http://www.otesaga seniorsopen.com).

The Seniors Open offers a total purse of up to $75,000 in four age-based flights, and is chaired by Daryl Forsythe of NBT Bank and Dan Spooner, the host professional at Leatherstocking. It boasts an enviable past player list that includes former PGA-ranked pros Jim Albus, Tom Nieporte, and Pete Oakley. Last year’s open was won by John Elliott of Westerly, RI, who shot a 67 on his 51st birthday to capture his first seniors win with a total of 206 (-7).

“Today was a tough day, but a good day,” Elliot said. “I had a great week here. It’s a wonderful town and the course played very well … I haven’t played many seniors events, so this was great to get my first win.”

Event Co-chairs Pat and Bob Hanft, with Chobani’s Cassie Treen, present the 2014 Tennis proceeds to Pathfinder representatives Michael Cagnacci and CEO Paul Landers.

A Native Son ... Howard C. Talbot, Jr. (1925-2015)

Pathfinder Village and the National Baseball Hall of Fame paid tribute recently to Howard C. Talbot, Jr., age 89, who passed away on July 18.

Howard served as the Hall of Fame’s chief executive from 1976 to 1993, and led the Village Foundation Board of Trustees from 1991-1995, during periods of growth for both organizations. As Foundation Chair, he supported the Seniors Open & Pro-Am, and helped raise funds to build Chenango House, the Pathfinder Gym, and the Kennedy Willis Center, the Village’s outreach and education center.

Born Oct. 6, 1925, Howard was raised in Edmeston and visited Pathfinder’s predecessor school for asthma treatments. He attended the Manlius Military Academy, and was inducted into the U.S. Army in 1943. Serving in the South Pacific, he was honorably discharged in 1946. He then earned a degree from the Utica School of Commerce, and married the former Alice Losee in 1948.

He was employed by the Leatherstocking Corporation in Cooperstown, and then was named as assistant treasurer at the Hall of Fame in 1951. He rose steadily through the ranks, and was appointed executive director of the Hall during the nation’s bicentennial. Talbot supervised a 52-member staff, made education the Hall’s focus, and oversaw three major expansions, including the enlargement of the Gallery of Plaques and National Baseball Library and Archives.

“The National Baseball Hall of Fame mourns the loss of Howard Talbot, whose leadership was instrumental in guiding the Museum in becoming the world class institution it is today,” said Hall of Fame Chairman Jane Forbes Clark. “He has always been an important part of our Village, and we will miss his wisdom and sense of humor.”

Howard volunteered with many local organizations and was a congregant of Cooperstown’s First Baptist Church. He stayed active in the Edmeston community through several organizations, and he was the third generation of his family to sit on the NYCM Board of Directors.

On a brilliant Saturday morning, Anja Eriksen and Doris Holdorf meet Art Specialist Diane McNeil at the Pathfinder Art Room, eager to continue their projects in the Landscape Painting Class. Each artist’s workspace is prepped with assorted paints and brushes, and after exchanging greetings, the women get right to work. Anja, a lifelong resident of Edmeston, has just completed a fall rustic scene, a gift for Michelle, one of her many friends. She focuses as she adds colors to her next landscape, a winter barn scene in the vein of Currier & Ives.

“I’ve been painting for over a decade, it’s one of my favorite activities,” said Anja. “I learn a lot working with Diane, and it’s fun meeting other people who like to paint.”

Doris, another longtime resident of Edmeston, has been active in civic organizations, and is an avid painter who has taken studio classes at museums and historical agencies. In Diane’s class, after finishing a lighthouse scene reminiscent of an idyllic New England summer, Doris starts a new landscape, interpreting an 1890s photo showing Edmeston’s Ontario & Western roundhouse. Doris and Diane, a talented artist in her own right with over 25 years teaching experience at Pathfinder, discern shapes among the shadows in the vintage image and discuss how to render convincing atmospheric details. The morning class flies by, and the artists end their studio time satisfied with their progress.
"I paint mostly landscapes, and I feel happy when I paint," says Anja. "Sometimes I get frustrated if I make a mistake, but then I figure out how to fix it. I get excited when a painting turns out well."

The Landscape Painting Class was one of Pathfinder's 'Over 21' Classes offered to Village residents and community members this spring. Pathfinder has traditionally offered two eight-week sessions of continuing education classes each year, part of ongoing Enrichment programming that engages individuals in a wide array of hobbies and interests.

“We’ve had great fun through the years with our adult education classes, and we believe many local employees and neighbors also like to learn new skills and meet others who share similar interests," said Paula Schaeffer, Director of Enrichment and Music Programs. "At our first ‘Over 21’ sessions open to everyone this spring, we had neighbors attend classes in Yoga, Painting, Digital Photography, and Knitting. Our public and Pathfinder students enjoyed learning together, and we will plan to build on this success with more classes in the fall."

The Enrichment Department also organizes the live performances of the annual Summer Concert Series in July and August, a highlight of the area events calendar.

ENRICHED LIFESTYLES

Pathfinder’s philosophy is rooted in providing opportunities that lead to community integration, social involvement, fulfillment, and lifestyles focused on wellness, which according to Stanford University is "an active process of awareness and making choices toward a healthier, happier (life) experience."

“In general, people who are active and engaged in meaningful pursuits are healthier physically, mentally and spiritually," said Kelly Meyers, Pathfinder-
er's Director of Admissions. "We're fortunate to have a long-serving and very talented staff that coordinates so many activities both here and in the wider community."

Fitness, a key factor in wellness, is an ongoing goal for many community members. Pathfinder athletes regularly compete in Special Olympics in soccer, swimming, basketball and track-and-field. Local colleges – Colgate, the State University at Oneonta, Hartwick College – bring teams to Edmeston for clinics for Pathfinder athletes. Others prefer individual conditioning programs and take part in personal training sessions at Clark Sports Center, Cooperstown; skiing at Ski Windham, sponsored by the EDD Memorial Fund; and equestrian lessons at Athelas Riding, Otego. On-campus Zumba classes are also well-attended by residents and members of the public.

Community member Grant Stubbs has a busy and fulfilling fitness regimen. "I go to the gym three times a week; first I do the workout bike, then the rowing machine, and the weight machine. I like to stay in shape. I like to go golfing and skiing too."

"And I like to walk. After I'm done, I feel better. My friends talk about what we're doing at activities. When I go to the gym, I enjoy talking to my friends there too."

Pathfinder takes a multi-dimensional approach in developing programming, and layers it with a 360° evaluation so that participants offer feedback and help map out improvements.

"We receive input from individuals about what they enjoy and events they want to attend at other venues," said Schaeffer. "Knowing peoples' interests, we can offer diverse activities, like the Sunday night Improv group, which is our actors' workshop. We also have a NASCAR club, through which fans attend regional races, enjoy TV races together, and go on the web to learn about their favorite drivers."

"At other times, as the Enrichment staff follows community programs, we work with individuals or groups by coordinating arrangements and transportation," added Schaeffer. "It is a responsive way to open up opportunities and help people enjoy a greater variety of events."

"Many times, there are spontaneous activities that occur too, like pick-up basketball games, bike riding, going out to the movies or shopping, or friends walking and enjoying music together," added Meyers. "And through the partnerships the Enrichment Department has cultivated through the years, we can offer incredible public programs with talented performing artists. It's a natural way for people living with intellectual disabilities to realize community, and at the same time gain independence, sharpen skills, and build on their own identities."

Partners in Health Care

Pathfinder Village and Bassett Healthcare Network, Central New York’s leading health care provider, celebrated the start of construction in May for a new community health center on the Pathfinder campus to replace Bassett’s health center in Edmeston, and to help meet an identified need for expanded access to primary care in the region.

Construction is expected to be completed by late fall. By increasing clinic space to 3,800 sq. ft., adding two more exam rooms, another provider, and an RN and LPN, the health center anticipates growing its volume to several thousand patient visits a year. Appointments in the daily clinic schedule will also be reserved to accommodate the needs of Pathfinder service recipients.

The Dr. William F. Streck Community Health Center at Pathfinder Village honors Bassett’s former CEO for his leadership and service, both at Bassett and as the Board of Directors Chair at Pathfinder Village, a post he has held since 1995. Dr. Streck was the guest of honor and featured speaker at the groundbreaking for the new health center, which is being built by Pathfinder and will be operated by Bassett.

The new $1.2 million center is located to the east of the Pathfinder Village on New York State Route 80 and will replace the Edmeston/Burlington Health Center, which, in 1973, was Bassett’s first foray into establishing regional health centers to serve rural communities. Currently, Bassett operates more than two dozen successful community-based health centers across the central New York region.

Collaborations, such as the partnership between Pathfinder and Bassett, are important not only because of the rural nature of the region, but are at the center of the new population health environment. Dr. Streck established a synergetic partnership between two unique and innovative organizations dedicated to improving the lives of individuals and families.
Best wishes for a great tournament!

Continuing a century-long tradition of leading edge innovation, ZENTIS is the first company worldwide to successfully produce chocolate pieces (splits) which remain stable in dairy products. This unique, proprietary product does not dissolve in milk but melts only when it reaches your mouth. So, whether stirred in yogurt, ice cream, dessert toppings, fruit compotes, or other limitless applications, these innovative ChocoSplits show one more way ZENTIS is a company with the Recipe For Success.

PRO-AM TOURNAMENT HOLE-IN-ONE INSURANCE SPONSOR

"... that each life may find meaning."
Pathfinder Village extends its gratitude for the great support for the second Splash Path 5K & Fun Walk, held on June 13. The event exceeded all expectations, and had 80 sponsors and vendors, 580 participants, and 200 spectators.

Splash Path 2015 was expanded to include an auction and an after-run party, which was well received. We made over $11,250, which will be used for our vocational programs, including the Pathfinder Hoop House. These fulfilling programs, which foster job skills and create work opportunities, are vital for people living with intellectual disabilities.

Job education and horticultural training are integral to our Pathfinder Produce market each Thursday afternoon. This popular market offers area families with a well-stocked market, so they may enjoy the benefits of eating fresh fruits and vegetables. This is just one way that Pathfinder builds bridges with area communities.

Splash Path 2016 is set for SATURDAY, MAY 21! We plan to add activities and exhibits to make it an even better, more colorful celebration of community.

THANK YOU for making Splash Path such a fun and memorable event!
